Gunnar Norberg's objections to "free wine flowing freely" in the cellar location at the southeast corner of Ocean and Monte Verde had the support of the rest of the city council at last night's meeting. W. S. Richert, under an extension of a license of a winery at Morgan Hill, proposes to set up a package goods off-sale wine cellar with free "wine tasting" from barrels for prospective customers.

The council will notify the ABC board that a beer and wine license for this location was revoked by the ABC board some years ago because of the police problem created by the basement location, not to mention the Bowery smell emerging onto Ocean Avenue.

Perhaps good days are ahead for the Carmel Forest. The old council refused Ray Berney a driveway variance at Casanova and Fourth, telling him to ask for permission to remove a big city pine and an oak instead. The new council, on tree tour Tuesday, refused removal of the trees and granted the variance contingent upon lowering of the garage floor.

A request to remove five big pines and a clump of oaks to move a house from the west to the east side of Torres Street between Fourth and Fifth was held over while a committee searches for another solution.

Forest commissioners Tuesday night considered speeding up tree-planting procedures. They will meet again next Tuesday evening, 7:30 o'clock, to continued study.

Commissioners Robert Strum and Frank Lloyd were given Pacific Grove's tree ordinance to study. It requires official approval of tree cutting on private property.

The Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission justified its existence Thursday night when it went on record as disapproving mouth of Carmel Valley as a site for a proposed trailer park, and sent a resolution to that effect to the county planning commission.

The Carmel Citizens Committee, speaking for Carmel, has sent a letter to the county board of supervisors with copy to the county planning commission vigorously opposing a trailer park development at that location.

Here's bad news in a letter from Vern Yaden, secretary of the Monterey Bay Chapter of Nature Conservancy:

"The Monterey Bay Chapter of the Nature Conservancy announced through the press last year that it had entered into an agreement with San Francisco State College for a joint fund-raising campaign to acquire the so-called Glen Deven property in Garrapata Canyon 11 miles south of Carmel, now owned by the Carmel Development Company.

"It now regrets to be obliged to announce that because San Francisco State College, through circumstances beyond its control, has been unable to carry out its part of the agreement, the option now held on the property is being relinquished and the project is being abandoned."

The loss of this redwood canyon and chaparral hillside area is a serious disappointment to conservationists. It could be put in the county master plan for acquisition as a

Earl Murray's Farewell Concert To Be Triumphant Display Of County's Rich Musical Resources

Earl Bernard Murray will make his farewell appearance as conductor of the Monterey County Symphony in the final concert of the orchestra's 14th season, Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset Auditorium.

Greatly increased demands on his time as musical director of the San Diego Symphony—rapidly building into one of the west's finest professional orchestras—have required Murray to give up the various conducting posts he has held in Northern California, including the San Francisco Ballet and the Monterey County orchestras.

His successor here is being selected from among five qualified candidates by a committee of orchestra representatives and members of the symphony's Executive Board. Announcement of their choice soon will be made.

Murray's departure from the San Francisco scene was a triumphant one: just a month ago, he was guest conductor for three concerts with the San Francisco Symphony, where scarcely ten years before he was a member of the orchestra's trumpet section. He subsequently became Assistant Conductor and then Associate Conductor under Pierre Monteux. His April guest appearance earned unqualified rave reviews from the San Francisco critics.

In a Pine Cone interview last year, Murray stated, "I am trying to show that an American community of this size can maintain a really good symphony orchestra... and to exploit fully our home talent." Tuesday night's concert with the Monterey County orchestra promises to fulfill both ambitions.

"Home talent" to be featured in the concert includes such accompaniment

New City Council Scores Big Hit On Opening Night

At its first regular meeting last night the new city council set: May 18, 8:00 o'clock, for a public hearing on 29 citizens' appeal from the planning commission's approval of plans for a parking garage and service station in the Fenton Block Development.

May 25, 8:00 o'clock, for a public hearing on the planning commission's central district plan. (See page 4 for map and text.)

May 11, 8:00 o'clock, for a study session to appoint standing committees.

Trustees Approve Lecture Program For High School

Carmel district school trustees last night agreed to try the Trump Plan on a modified scale at Carmel High School next year after hearing Principal Warren Edwards and Superintendent Stuart Mitchell outline advantages of the combined large group lecture—individual student work—small group teaching system. The pilot program will necessitate the removal of two walls to create a lecture room. Plans for Trump Plan instruction will also be incorporated into plans for the new high school.

Mr. Edwards told trustees about his observations on the Trump Plan in Colorado Schools, where it operates under a grant from Educational Facilities Laboratories, Ford Foundation subsidiary. Mr. Mitchell reported on his discussion of the plan with Ford Foundation President Harry Gores in New York.

Trustees gave the Carmel Youth Center $3,500, as usual, but asked Mr. Mitchell to inform P. A. McCreery, president of the Youth Center adult board, that trustees do not consider themselves obligated to reserve this amount to support the center in future years. Trustee George Yates reported he had told Mr. McCreery that although trustees felt that they must

Floyd Adams Jr. Dies In Los Angeles Of Heart Attack

Floyd Adams Jr., son of Carmel Building Inspector Floyd Adams, died in Los Angeles on Tuesday of a heart attack. He was 29 years old. Mr. Adams left for Los Angeles immediately after receiving news of his son's death.

Floyd Adams Jr. was a graduate of Sunset School and Carmel High School, Class of 1949, and also attended Monterey Peninsula College.

He received the nation's third highest combat award, a Silver Star, while serving as a medical corpsman during the Korean War. The citation which accompanied the award stated that Floyd Adams Jr. showed "dauntless courage and devotion to duty." He treated wounded men under fire during an attack until he ran out of bandages, then joined the attacking force and was wounded in the action.

He is survived by his wife and two children; a sister, Ina Adams, a half-sister, Mrs. Sylvester Burger, and two brothers, Birney and Ronnie Adams.

The council worked through a longer than normal agenda and adjourned at 11:15 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual. This welcome innovation in council performance was achieved through firm and courteous steering by Mayor Frank Putnam, exercise of self-control by the new members and sporadic cooperation by the old.

Differences of opinion were allowed expression but put to a vote before they degenerated into quarrels and displays of temper. Lengthy dissertations on premature, complicated, controversial proposals were forestalled and removed from the agenda with a suggestion of an appropriate time for their resubmission.

A large audience remained until adjournment, fascinated.

Citizens appearing before the council:

Carolyn Elstob spoke of the traffic "chaos" near the post office and suggested parking time limit on the west side of Dolores between Fifth and Sixth. Councilman John Chitwood said the planning commission had recommended the post office lessors provide a parking lot when they were given a building permit to enlarge the premises and they hadn't done so. Tom Perry, their attorney, said that they had negotiated for the lot "catercorner" to the post office but the lot owners were unwilling to sell. The time limit parking proposal was referred to Police Commissioner Chitwood for study.

Tom Bisset, who has been engaged by the owners to move the "White house" from the west side of Torres between Fifth and Sixth to the east side, reported that if he moved it through the city corporation yard to Junipero and around the block, as proposed by the council on tree tour, nine to 11 trees would have to be removed, whereas only five were involved in the across the street move. The around the block route would cost $1000 more to the owners, he added. Over Chitwood's objections—the matter had already been explored on tree tour Tuesday, he said—the council decided that the committee of Mayor Putnam and Councilman Francis Whitaker should further explore possibilities with Bisset on the site.

Sydney Dibble withdrew his appeal from the planning commission's denial of his application for permission to excavate landscape area at the Wayfarer Inn to create three parking spaces. He said he had a new proposal to bring before the planning commission.

Councilman Whitaker asked that the arts commission's recommended Forest Theatre repairs and improvements, to the amount of $5,000, be continued to the June meeting to give himself and the

CHAMPIONSHIP SWIM MEET AT CARMEL SATURDAY

Since the start of the 1960 swim season, Watsonville and Carmel have been winning their meets with ridiculous ease and the tank filberts have been anxiously awaiting the meeting between the two star-studded squads. This Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, the Wildcats and Padres will hit the water in the Carmel pool and one of the schools will emerge as the 1960 dual meet champion of the CCAL. In their only meeting early in the season, the Wildcats clipped the Padres in the CCAL Relays, but several disqualifications cut down the Carmel point total and paved the way for the Wildcat victory.

Coach Jim Agan's Padre nata-tors have shattered nearly all the existing Carmel High records this season and the top Padre swimmers have better times than the Watsonville first-place men. However, the Wildcats have more depth than Carmel and will rely on the second and third places to compensate for the first-place strength enjoyed by the Padres.

Carmel's brother duo of Chuck and Steve Rogers will be tough for the Wildcats to handle and they will receive some powerful backing from Mike Cook, Rick Johnson, Doyle Clayton, Art Horning, Chips Wood, John Hackbarth, Bob Paul, David Rosenkranz, Ralph Stean, and Dick Goularte.

WILDER & JONES LEADS CARMEL LITTLE LEAGUE

After one week's play in the Carmel Little League, Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones nine has taken over first place by hanging a 6-4 decision on Newt Goodrich's well-drilled Boys' Town club. The plumbies parlayed some classy pitching by Kim Roberts with the heavy hitting of Jack Mahoney to fashion the win over the clothiers. Roberts gave up 4 hits and struck out 9 in his six-inning stint on the mound while Mahoney stroked 2-for-3 and drove in 3 runs. Mike Bray and Gerald Pullen pitched for Boys' Town with Bray receipting for the loss.

San Carlos Realty, 1959 champs, got back on the win trail Monday night by clipping Lew McCreery's Sport Shop aggregation, 9 to 3, with Larry Little hurling the win. The little righthander fashioned a nifty four-hitter while striking out 10 Sport Shop swingers. Larry Thompson, Sport Shop secondbase man, was the top hitter of the game, stroking a triple and single in three trips to the plate. Jim Sparolini clubbed a home run for the winning San Carlos team.

Pilot Market ran its record to a pair of wins and one loss as it turned back Turner & McEldowney, 9 to 2, in Tuesday night's Little League play. Tim Head, a husky lefthander, hurled the win for the grocers with Lawson Little drawing the loss for the bricklayers.

FARM TEAMS PLAY THIS SATURDAY

Carmel's Little League baseball diamond won't have a chance to cool off this Saturday as eight farm teams swing into action for the opening games of the minor league circuit. The first game to start at 9:00 o'clock in the morning with the fourth game slated to finish around 5:00 o'clock.

Village Inn, 1959 "minor league" champion, squares off against the American Legion in Saturday's 9:00 o'clock opener. At 11:00, Nik-

Farm team play continues for seven Saturdays with a playoff among the top four teams slated for Saturday, June 25.

PADRES HOST HOLLISTER NINE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Coach Bob Matson brings his second-place Hollister Haybaler baseball team to Carmel Friday afternoon for a CCAL B-division league tussle with the in-and-out Carmel Padre aggregation. The Haybalers are 4-2 in league play and are the most serious challengers to Gilroy's efforts to make a runaway of the B-division baseball race. Hollister whipped Carmel, 11 to 7, the first time around and will be favored to do a repeat job on the Red & Gray in tomorrow's second-half tilt.

Chris Wilkin will draw the pitching assignment against the Haybalers with Forrest Cornwall and Jim Brown available for relief duty. Big Chris has been on the verge of pitching greatness on several occasions this season, but streaks of wildness have hampered his efforts to do a consistent job of winning. Brown and Cornwall, a pair of hard-throwing sophomores, have been plagued by shaky support and could blossom into winning hurlers with some better playmaking behind them.

Hollister has a veteran team which gained valuable experience by playing American Legion ball last summer and could be the best team in the B-division of the CCAL.

In a league game at Gilroy last Friday, the Padres dropped a 7-5 decision to the Mustangs as they committed 8 miscues to scuttle the fine pitching efforts of Chris Wilkin, Jim Brown, and Forrest Cornwall. The Padres matched the Mustangs in the hitting department as they connected for 8 safe blows, but the shaky fielding job opened the gates for 6 unearned runs. David Fuller and Carlos Montenegro paced the Carmel hitters in this one, Fuller getting two well-hit singles to drive in three runs and Montenegro stroking two-for-three.

Tuesday's game with Pacific Grove was rained out and will be made up on Tuesday, May 24.

CARMEL HIGH DEFENDS TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

Coach Hadley Hicks takes Carmel High's trackers to Hollister this Saturday morning in quest of a repeat victory in the CCAL Little Eight Meet which decides the championship of the B-division. Last year the Padres dominated the Little Eight and upset the favored King City Mustangs while picking up the winner's trophy. This year the Mustangs are again favored to win the title and Carmel is given strong support for second place. However, the Padres have been putting in some strenuous practice sessions during the past week and the Red & Gray thinclads envision another upset victory. With better-than-ever-performances by all members of the squad, the Carmel gang could surprise the highly-capable and highly-confident Mustang crew.

Expected to add to Carmel's point total are sprinters Julio Montenegro, Frank Mayo, and Charley Todd; hurdlers Bill True, Scott Forbes, and Al Dahlstrand; middle-distance performers Frank Preve, Joe Foster, Lee Oleson, and Danny Moore; milers Buddy Steffen and Gerhard Kalmus; weightmen Paul Rice, Doyle Clayton, and Bill Coleman; highjumper Russ Wise; and vaulters Pat Boyle and Gary Clay.

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE FOR 13-14 YEAR OLDS

Good news for the 13-14 year old Carmel youngsters came out of a meeting of the Little League directors last week where plans were made for a Community League fashioned after the regular Pony League program. Ralph Thompson, a veteran in Little League administration, heads up the new league which is slated for a June 27 opening. First tryout session is scheduled at the Carmel High School diamond on Saturday, May 21.

With a limited opportunity for the 13-14 age group to participate in the Babe Ruth League, the new Community League will give Little League graduates further organized baseball play. Playing in the Community League does not prohibit a boy from also playing in the Babe Ruth League since it is a local league not affiliated with a national organization.

A cutdown diamond will be used in the Community League with the pitching distance 55 feet, the bases 75 feet apart, and the outfield fences 250 feet from home plate. The Carmel High diamond will be used for all the games with a snow fence being installed in the outfield.

League directors have scheduled an 8:00 o'clock meeting at the Sunset School on May 16 where final plans will be laid for the new league. All interested parents, baseball boosters, prospective managers and umpires are invited to attend the meeting.

THIS WEEK'S FISH STOCKING

The following Monterey County and neighboring county streams were stocked this week by the California Department of Fish and Game with catchable-sized trout: Nacimiento river; Arroyo Seco creek. San Luis Obispo County: Atascadero, Arroyo Grande, Lopez, Tassajara creeks; Reservoir Canyon Lake. Santa Cruz County: San Vicente creek.

VALENTINO FILM AT MPC

Blood and Sand, Rudolph Valentino in the Spanish bullring, will be shown by the Theater Arts Group at Monterey Peninsula College, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The presentation of the 1922 film is open to the public without charge, and coffee will be served during intermission.

Rosamond Zammit Gives Enchanting Performance As Eliza Doolittle In Circle Theatre's Pygmalion

Familiarity seems to breed only increased delight with G. B. Shaw's Pygmalion, and the version uncorked last weekend at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre seemed as fresh as May wine.

In the Circle Theatre production directed by Frederick Rider, both the spirit and idiom of Shaw's deliciously didactic comedy are met in fine style by an excellent cast.

Rosamond Beck-Meyer Zammit is known as an excellent dramatic actress through her portrayals of a whole gallery of distraught and tragic ladies. None, however, revealed the joyous high-comedy style and gift for mimicry she brings to her enchanting performance as Eliza Doolittle, the Cockney Cinderella passed off as a duchess after a drastic overhaul of her grammar and grooming by a self-sure phonetician.

Errol Allan has never been more happily cast or in finer form and voice than as the splendidly temperamental Prof. Henry Higgins. He is both overbearing and engaging, restless and relaxed, well-bred and bad-mannered—and at all times, completely in command of his characterization.

Edgar Pye puts on a fine show as the raffish representative of the "undeserving poor," Alfred Doolittle, stating Shaw's case against middle-class morality with sly Cockney bravado.

Derek Napier Lawford gives a well-mannered performance as Colonel Pickering, Higgins' gentlemanly colleague and a model British-colonial type who looks unfinished without his pipe. Ruth Ware is equally the gentlewoman (if none too British) as Henry Higgins' no-nonsense mother, Sylvia. Lightly skims some creamy comic lines from her role as Clara Eynsford Hill.

Good performances also come from Coralie Schatz as the improvident, aristocratic Mrs. Eynsford-Hill; Marvin Johns as her unpromising son, Freddy; and Felicia Mummert as Higgins' imposing housekeeper, Mrs. Pearce.

Anne Tweedy plays a bit as a parlor maid, and James Alcorn, Douglas Zug, Sally Reichard and Beth Zanides appear as sundry abusers of the English tongue during the first-act street scene. While the accents assumed by some of the players may not be quite what Shaw had in mind, the enunciation of the principal players—Miss Zammit, Mr. Allan, Mr. Lawford and Mr. Pye—more than compensates for this small imperfection.

Mr. Rider's excellent direction moves the action briskly through Pygmalion's five acts. The smooth pace of the production is interrupted only by the intemperate laughter of the audience. Just about everyone, including the cast, seemed in fact to be having a wonderful time.

As stage manager and scene designer, Ruth Allan has combined a shallow proscenium with a sort of semi-arena to produce a versatile set which serves effectively as the pillared portico of St. Paul's, Higgins' studio, and his mother's drawing room. The show's costuming, elegantly Edwardian, is to the credit of Larry Nier, Bob Rushing and Marian Oakley, and the lighting is well handled by Willis Carpenter. Zelma Weinfeld is production manager, assisted by Polly Bowhay, Ronnie Cummings, R. Rolleston West, Mary Hicks and Beth Zanides, and Muriel Neikirk is in charge of properties.

Pygmalion plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock, and unlike sparkling wine, it promises to keep its effervescence as long as it's open. —V. S.

Malik Of Lebanon Speaker For WAC Asilomar Meeting

A roster of international authorities will speak at the World Affairs Council's fourteenth annual conference at Asilomar this week end. Theme of the meetings which start tomorrow evening and continue through Sunday is Competitive Coexistence—Dilemma of the 60s.

Speakers will be Dr. Charles Malik of Lebanon, president of the thirteenth United Nations General Assembly; their Majesties the King and Queen of Nepal; Walter W. Rostow, M.I.T. economist; Richard C. Hottelet, CBS news correspondent; Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation; Lyman Kirkpatrick, inspector general of the Central Intelligence Agency; Stuart Hannon, assistant to the director of Radio Free Europe; Colonel William Kintner, deputy director of the Foreign Research Institute, University of Pennsylvania; and Paul Bryan, deputy whip for the Conservative Party in Great Britain.

Dr. Robert Gordon Sproull, president emeritus of the University of California, is chairman for the conference. Local committee members include Mrs. L. W. Klene, Colonel Austin De Camp, John Payne, Mrs. Florence Warren.

Volunteers are needed to take notes from the recorders following the Saturday afternoon seminars, 3:00-6:00 o'clock. Free admission to the Saturday afternoon seminars as well as the general session on Saturday evening will be given in return for this service. Those interested may telephone Fletcher Dutton, FRontier 2-1710.

Dorothy Dean, Richard Bailey To Present Dance Drama

The Emperor's Nightingale, a ballet-drama based on the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale adapted by Dan Totheroh, will be presented by the Dorothy Dean Studios for Dance for the benefit of the Monterey Council for Retarded Children, May 20, and May 22. Both performances will be given in Sunset Auditorium in Carmel with curtain time for the Friday evening performance at 8:30 o'clock and for the Sunday matinee at 2:00 o'clock.

In addition to her role as producer, Miss Dean will also choreograph the ballet, while Richard Bailey, director of the Studio Theatre in Carmel, will be responsible for the narrative portions of the performance. Both Miss Dean and Bailey will serve as co-directors of the project.

The Emperor's Nightingale is perhaps one of the best-known of the many enchanting stories that came from Anderson's gifted pen. Like most fairy tales it is a fantasy, but its underlying theme carries the message of what happiness is and how it may be attained. The local enactment will have elaborate sets and lavish costuming for the 40 actors and dancers in the cast.

Carole Crumpley In Piano Recital At Fellowship Hall

The Carmel Studios of Music, directed by Gilbert Boyer, announces a free concert by Carole Crumpley, pianist, on Sunday afternoon, 4:00 o'clock in Fellowship Hall, Church of the Wayfarer.

Miss Crumpley will play two rarely performed sonatas of Scarlatti, a Prelude and Fugue from the Well-Tempered Clavichord of Bach, the complete Waldstein Sonata of Beethoven, the Oiseaux tristes and Une Barque sur l'océan of Ravel and Scherzo, Opus 54 of Chopin.

Miss Crumpley has been studying with Gilbert Boyer for the last four years. Previous to that time her teacher was Mr. Edward Hopkins of Monterey. Last season she was one of the winners of the Carmel Chamber Music Society Young Artist auditions, performing the Mozart C-Major Concerto for Piano and Chamber Orchestra at one of the regular subscription concerts. Miss Crumpley received a Kiwanis scholarship, is a member of the Junior College Honor Society and is an organist at the Church of Religious Science. In 1958 she gave her first solo recital at the USO. At present, a freshman at Monterey Peninsula College, she plans to make music a career.

Above is the central district plan map presented to the city council last night. Below is the text accompanying the map prepared by the planning commission. A public hearing on map and text will be held May 25 by the council.

CENTRAL DISTRICT PLAN

The Plan for the Central Business District of Carmel is a plan for today. It is intended to help solve some of Carmel's immediate problems through measures which the City can undertake without major investments. The Plan is also a basis for other measures which will require separate detailed studies. Finally, it is a framework into which the City can fit the major capital improvements it will be making from time to time.

Carmel does not have all of the problems other American cities have today. It has a healthy economy and a good tax base. It is a beautiful city and has an active citizenry to maintain its beauty. On the other hand, the City does have heavy traffic. It does have a parking problem. And new public facilities are needed.

Land Use

The Central District, designated for commercial use is of adequate size. It is anticipated that demands upon Central District commercial uses will increase with the population of the planning area, but it is equally evident that it is the desire of the community that such added demand be met by commercial areas in other parts of the Peninsula. This plan provides for a central retail core plus surrounding zones providing for those business uses appropriate to the residential character of the community.

Traffic

The Carmel Central Business District now has and will continue to have four major approaches: Ocean Avenue from the east; San Carlos from the south; Ocean from the west; and Camino del Monte-Junipero-San Carlos from the north. These converge primarily on Ocean Avenue, which simultaneously must be a traffic artery, parking lot, and the City's major business area with its concentration of fine shops. It is of fundamental importance to remove through traffic from Ocean Ave. The Plan organizes the traffic from these four gateways into two pairs of one-way streets. Through traffic is diverted from Ocean Avenue. Its valuable parking areas remain.

The most beautiful approach and typical of Carmel is Camino del Monte. The City should protect the weeded character of this gracefully curving drive by retaining the unused rights-of-way and intersections in their natural state. To relieve Ocean Avenue as much as possible use of this route should be encouraged by rearranging intersections and by extending Pico Avenue. Coming into town one has the choice of using Junipero or San Carlos without traffic conflict. All traffic returning from town would use Junipero. Although these streets are beyond the limits of this Plan, the City should consider making Serra, Junipero, Camino del Monte and San Carlos a one-way route entering town, and Junipero, Camino del Monte and Pico a one-way route leaving town.

The Central District Plan shows that portion of the north truck route lying within the scope of this Plan.

Parking

The parking problem is one which requires special study at the time the City is ready to purchase or negotiate for specific parking lots. This plan, however, gives the basis for evaluating any parking lot location. A good shopping street should not be interrupted by parking lots. Any lots provided by the City should be served as directly as possible by the principal streets on this Plan.

Pedestrian Square

Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Dolores is shown as a pedestrian square. There are two important reasons for this. First, it provides a positive and permanent road block to the heavy through traffic which presently clogs this shopping street. Second, it provides a pedestrian haven which is nowhere more appropriate than in Carmel. The City already has several such small areas tucked here and there in the middle of blocks, adding to the richness of the City. The square thus created is almost as large as Devendorf Plaza.

By this means, Ocean Avenue can be converted into the quieter and calmer street it once was. At the same time the City's most valuable parking area is basically retained. As alternative parking is required, this treatment of Ocean Avenue can be extended without affecting the traffic pattern.

Parks

A small park is shown at Ocean Avenue and Junipero which can be created by rerouting Mountain View Avenue. This will help beautify the Ocean Avenue entrance. Primarily, however, it is important in simplifying this complex intersection.

Civic Center

The Civic Center is shown on the Plan at one of the locations recently under discussion. This location has many advantages, and the Civic Center would have a good effect on the development of this area of the City. This part of Junipero Avenue can be expected to become an important and handsome area as the present heavy commercial uses are replaced.

Planners Told One-Way Streets Hurt Business

Carmel planning commissioners yesterday afternoon adopted the new four-zone central district plan comprised of a map and accompanying text. The city council received the plan last night.

Only changes made by the commission before sending the plan to the council were to designate Fifth Street from Dolores to San Carlos as one-way east in front of the post office; to change closing of Mountain View Avenue to re-routing, to form a park at the junction of Junipero and Ocean; to state that no heavy industrial uses were needed in Carmel; include the truck route in the traffic flow plan; and recommend a civic center in the vicinity of the present city-owned land between Junipero and Torres below Fourth.

At the invitation of Chairman Herbert Blanks, Bob Lewis, representing Mrs. Mary Goold, owner of the Standard station property at Ocean and San Carlos, told the commission that judging from other cities' experience with one-way streets, property owners suffer. Mrs. Goold would lose revenue if Carmel adopts one-way streets, he added. One-way streets do affect business on the opposing side of the street to traffic flow, he said, and also stated that one-way streets in Carmel might not correct the traffic problem but move

Prof. Newton Heads Carmel For College Citizens Committee

Meeting at Carmel High School music room Monday night, a group of Carmel School District residents organized to work for the success of the June 7 election for annexation of Carmel Unified School District to the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District.

The committee, about 30 in number, selected Carmel Citizens for the College for a name and asked Robert E. Newton to serve as their chairman.

Ralph W. Thompson heads the speakers' committee, Captain Archer Allen, finance, James Pruitt, publicity, and Shelburn Robison, get out the vote.

Professor Newton, who is chairman of the mechanical engineering department at the Naval Postgraduate School, has been a resident of Carmel Hills since 1952.

Commissioner George Wilcox stated that in Carmel the residents' point of view was paramount. "We are not concerned about businessmen who complain."

Mrs. Patricia Hall advocated a trial of the one-way streets, also James Pruitt.

Claude Faw presented a report for the commission files to the effect that at the present time the fact that at the present time Carmel Presbyterian Church has no protest to closing Mountain View Avenue bordering church property, also that the church has no present plans for enlarging facilities, although it has acquired additional property in the area.

dent of Carmel Hills since 1952. His daughter Peggy attends Carmel High School and son Gary is a student at Woods School. He is president-elect of Carmel High P-TA unit.

Professor Newton told the Pine Cone that he believes it is financially advantageous for Carmel to annex to the Monterey Junior College District, since the state legislature is undertaking a "deliberate program to make it advantageous for outside districts to annex to junior college districts."

State aid for students of unattached districts attending junior colleges will be reduced twenty percent a year over the next five years so that the tax costs to outside districts will be proportionately increased, he stated.

"Don" Doner Entertains Don Pancho, Florist, On Mexican Adventure

Carmel Highlands painter Ephraim "Don" Doner left before Easter to travel by bus through Mexico and record his impressions of the people and the countryside in drawings. In Mexico City he met neighbor John Williams, 19, son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams. John, knapsack on back, has been discovering Mexico by bus since early in the year.

Don and John found living quarters on Rancho de los Artistas near Mexico City. They became, according to Don, "ninos" of Don Pancho, "patron" of the very large rancho which Don describes as, "The cupboard of Mother Goose, probably the biggest and finest collection of Mexican 'folklore' we have found."

They leave their rancho headquarters to explore other areas in the vicinity of Mexico City. An account of Don's reactions to his Mexican adventures follows.

"Two weeks ago I had just arrived in El Paso. It seems so long ago. And suddenly the view. One vibrates with the country; its people. The misery and romance.

"We are pretty far from the heart of the city. Last week end we were in Cuernavaca, and we visited Tlepztlan, the village that so many books were written about. I painted while John roamed around. We know intimately the owner of a gladiola ranch in that village. He is taking us there in a few days, and a few blocks from here (the rancho) live the sort of people, Mexicans, that no tourist sees. We shop there and make friends. But we still haven't been invited into the courtyards that teem with children, chickens, turkeys. It is actually an old Azteca village. A heap of ruins, misery and poverty. The laborers of Mexico, gay and so humble and gentle.

"A part of Good Friday I spent in Church and watched their procession. The Indians kneeling in the aisles, lighted candles in their hands, wearing penitents robes, and then the procession! Hooded figures wearing bundles of thorns on their backs, the crude Christ carried on poles, the fireworks. It was really fantastic, just a little something else than the effigy of a man perpetually in the throes of death. I drew it on paper and hope to convert the drawings later into paintings.

"We are established with the 'negocios' here. Items like butter and fruits are superior to anything I've tasted ever. So is their bread. The tastebuds of my youth seem to revive. Nothing goes through the warehouse wilting process.

"The people here were very hospitable to us—so we decided to give a dinner for Don Pancho, the gladiola man and some others. Don Pancho's majordomo didn't bring us utensils and dishes till very late. I worked on my drawings till 6:00 o'clock. But by 8:30 John and I whipped up a gourmet meal on two leaky gas burners. The guests brought fancy drinks and it was indeed very gay.

"Sometime next week we are going to Guanajato, this Friday to Teotihuacan to see the pyramids. We'll make other trips and take in quite a bit on the drive home."

Don and John have met Tom Williams, also a guest on the rancho. He was a fellow student at Harvard with John's older brother, Richard, and asked Don and John to drive with him as far as Carmel on his return trip to New York at the end of this month.

When home again, Don promises to tell how he and John "had to roll over thousands of bodies to get to our ringside seats at a corrida."

Cradle Rocking At All Saints' Saturday

The annual Cradle-Rocking Service will be observed at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Saturday, the day before Mothers' Day, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

New babies born to parish families during the past year are introduced to the family of the church at this service. Each child is placed in a cradle and rocked while the child sponsors of the baby and the choir sing a lullaby.

Those to be rocked at the service this year are Richard Califf, Jonathon Farmer, Barbara Anne Farren, Robert Martin Grant, James Martin Irwin, Sandy Sherman, Jack Stein, Jr., Robert Vuillmont and John Walker.

St. Ursula's Circle sponsors the Cradle-Rocking Service this year. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Russell Townsend, Mrs. John Rennels, and Mrs. Ralph Thompson.

FOREBODING

Spume crests the tumbling breakers
As a rising off-shore wind
Bespeaks day's ending.
Crimson cloud-banks slowly fade
Into the dull grey night;
While out beyond the kelp-line
Darkness blending
With swirling mist veils restless
Grey-green waters capped with white.

—GRACE R. BALLARD.

FLAT GOLD

Wheels have turned
And behind me
Is the road of blue lupins
Brighter than wing of bright bird.
I have come the warm way
Of fenceless blackberries,
Of trees silver-branched with squirrels.

My eyes freed from day riding
Through valley of south
To valley of north
Approach the tall windows
Between Campanile hills
And hills San Francisco west.

Here, the great bridge night-mellowed,
Sparkles its amber closed in by steel cables
Suspension—cold—gray
Over flat gold of the Bay.

—ETHEL FORD CARROLL.

WHEN NEXT HE LOOKS FOR REFUGE

Pines are the gracious trees.
To mountain winds a pine will bow, and always with serenity accept hushings of snow,
asperities of sun, frenzies of rain.
All moods in nature such a tree condones, even man's, where he so freely soothes fevers of doubt, hurt, fear, despair, cool in some pine's accessible retreat.
Then, for return,
man must defile his sanctuary with picnic litter, score the spire with blazes, resin-oozing;
and presently with shout, with steel,
strike refuge thundering down, blast out the buttresses, drag all of worth away, fire the slope, carving a horror site
blinded by sun, raddled by rain, no longer honored, no more welcoming,
When next he looks for refuge, man will climb too far past ruin, in too long a time.

—HELEN FAULKNER.

FROM A
LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

In a town swarming with expert craftsmen, it might seem futile to stock a general book on crafts, but this new book we have is so wide spread in its fields of interest that we bought it for the beginner, the hobby-shopper. By browsing through Creative Crafts for Everyone by Alan Turner, the newcomer to crafts work will learn a few techniques, something about supplies needed, and whether or not certain crafts appeal to him enough to try his hand at them. Some things in the book are pretty elementary, and some are on the ghastly side, but taken as a whole the book looks good for the purpose.

The Story of the Bible World in Map, Word, and Picture was written by Nelson Keyes. The title may sound a little stuffy, but the book is very interesting and the illustrations even more so. Here again is a chance for you to make the Bible a living thing in your mind.

We hear a lot about Russian education, and a new book by the President of the University of Pennsylvania is based upon information collected during a tour of Russian institutions of learning. Dr. Gaylor Harnwell went to Russia with a group of college presidents who wished to learn first-hand the facts of Russian educational life. He called his book Russian Diary.

H. Allen Smith has done it again, to the everlasting joy of most of us. His latest is called Waikiki Beachnik, and as you of course surmise, this time the author travels to Hawaii. But H. Allen is a visitor with a difference. He will not watch the hula dancers' hands. He will not eat poi. And he evolves all kinds of theories of his own, as for instance the fact that he believes the Menhunes disappeared because they were driven away by ferocious chickens. If you can't go to the islands, read Waikiki Beachnik and have fun anyway. If you have been to the islands, read Waikiki Beachnik and live it all over again.

Pierre van Paassen has a new biography of Savonarola which he has called A Crown of Fire. The author tells us that Machiavelli said, "Of such a man as Savonarola one may speak here with reverence only!"

There are men to whom the prospect of a life of uneventful security is distasteful and such a one is Alan Harrington, the author of Life in a Crystal Palace. In this case the crystal palace is a great corporation, and Alan Harrington describes the business world he knew where, and the numbing security which to him became unbearable. He resigned. And wrote this book.

There are seven new novels which we hope will please you, and other non-fiction goodies. Come and see.

15. ECHO PARK DAM AGAIN!

In the May issue of National Wildland News (edited by Devereux Butcher, well-known to Monterey Peninsula conservationists) appears a full-page illustrated article entitled: "Remember Dinosaur National Monument—Let's Stop the Moss Bill to Amend the Upper Colorado Act."

Perhaps there should be a question mark after "Remember Dinosaur National Monument." The big fight to prevent the building of Echo Park Dam in that Monument—one of the most important efforts ever made by conservationists—took place between 1950 and 1956. The Colorado River Storage Project Act, which signaled victory of sorts for the conservationists, was approved on April 11, 1956. In the four years since then many people may have forgotten the issue. So perhaps a brief resume is needed, together with an appeal for help.

Dinosaur National Monument is located in eastern Utah, extending over the line into Colorado a short distance. The Grgen River flows through it on its way from its source in Wyoming to its junction with the Colorado River in central Utah. In one of its most beautiful stretches where it flows around the base of 800-foot high Steamboat Rock at a place called Echo Park, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation proposed to build a dam which would flood Steamboat Rock for three-quarters of its height and convert the very beautiful canyons of Dinosaur National Monument into a huge draw-down reservoir.

This was entirely contrary to the National Park Service Act of 1916 which stated that the scenery of the national parks should "be preserved unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations." It would be an understatement to say that the proposed Echo Park Dam would "impair" the scenery. It would practically destroy it.

Therefore the conservationists of the country, aided by many influential magazines of the East, rose to the defense of this unit of the national park system; and to make a long story short, succeeded in passing the Colorado River Storage Project Act in April, 1956. This Act was a compromise with the reclamationists in that the Glen Canyon Dam in southern Utah, which was also opposed by the conservationists, though not in the national park system, was authorized in it. There was a gentleman's agreement that Echo Park Dam would remain permanently out of the System.

Now Senator Moss of Utah has taken the first step to break that agreement by introducing his bill in the form of an amendment to the original Act. His bill is S. 3180 and can be interpreted to mean that Echo Park Dam be built. It is hoped that all those who participated in the long struggle against the dam, and those who have since then become interested in conservation, will let their representatives in Washington know their feelings in the matter.

Lindsay-Oliver Open House

More than a hundred friends called on Sunday and Monday at the new studio home of Miss Lindsay-Oliver at the corner of San Carlos Street and Thirteenth Avenue. The occasions were afternoon and evening open houses given by Miss Lindsay-Oliver so that the guests could see her home and appreciate her delight and happiness in her new surroundings.

Arrangements of spring flowers decorated the studio and buffet table placed in the patio. Entertainment was provided by Miss Lindsay-Oliver's voice and piano pupils. Recently unpacked and hung pictures by the hostess also attracted guests' attention, particularly two just completed portraits. Miss Lindsay-Oliver was surprised by many housewarming presents. A Scotswoman, she was unaware of this American custom.

Among names written in the guest book were Canon and Mrs. Charles A. Dowdell, Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Admiral C. W. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edelman, Mrs. M. H. Shutes, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Dutton, Mrs. Rhea Dively, Mrs. Lucille de Bey, Mrs. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Titus, Miss Felicitas Titus, Mrs. Grace Howden, Mrs. Phil Gordon, Mrs. Lawrence Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurzmans, Mrs. August Armanasco, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, Symphony conductor Earl Bernard Murray, The Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas, Mrs. Charles Sale, Mr. and Mrs. Abel Warshawsky, Miss Charlotte Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Hascal Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. David Alberto, Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Dr. Harvey Marshall, Miss Angie Machado, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Parks, Mr. and Mrs. George Podbereski, Miss Blanche Tolmie and Miss Margaret Aitkenhead.

Those who contributed entertainment were Gilbert and David Schoenbrod and Ora Fallis, who sang, and eight-year old pianist Nancy Lou Caravan.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver was assisted in serving the guests by Mrs. Louise Waterbury, former Washington, D. C. friend, Miss Ora Fallis, Miss Kit Barton who shares Miss Lindsay-Oliver's home, and Mrs. A. Caravan.

Mrs. Ellen Littlepage Betts of Hollister, a former piano and painting pupil of Miss Lindsay-Oliver in Chevy Chase, Maryland, also was able to call at her former teacher's home.

Robert Clampett Jr. Born

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clampett have a new son, their first child, named Robert Daniel Clampett Jr. after his father. He weighed six pounds, 14 ounces when he was born at the Monterey Hospital on April 22. Last night his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Therese Massin of Cambrai, France, arrived here to visit Daniel Jr. and his parents who expect her to remain in Carmel for a year before returning home.

Paladin Pauses

Richard Boone stopped in Carmel for a few hours on Tuesday afternoon. The former Trouper of the Gold Coast at the First Theatre had not been in Carmel for over six years. He left Highway 101 at Greenfield and drove here through Arroyo Seco and Carmel Valley. "A paved road now," he was surprised to discover, "and like the coast highway in that there are many curves with a new vista beyond each turn. Driving is slow but rewarding."

Dick was surprised when he arrived in Carmel Valley. "It's all subdivisions," remarked the former Valley resident. He lived before the last war on the Holt ranch when it was the property of Eugene Marble and an operating ranch.

The changes in Carmel were not so startling to TV's Paladin. "I can still find my way around town," he stated and was surprised at the minor flurry he caused on Dolores Street when he stopped to see his cousin, Eloise Rainer, in her gift shop.

Later Dick and his wife, Claire, visited their old friends Roy and Elayne Chanslor before continuing north to San Francisco.

All Saints' Rummage Sale

The women of All Saints' Episcopal Church Parish will hold their annual rummage sale in the Parish Hall on May 19 from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. This year there will be 18 sales booths and a snack bar which will serve food all day. The Men's Club will sponsor a Garden Department. A large part of the sale proceeds will be used for the Church School Building Fund.

Sell Articles In Movie Technique

The Chalmers Sisters, former Carmel residents, have received one hundred dollars and publication of an article on their experiences as operators of a movie camera using the new zoom lens with a reflex viewer. It took both girls to maneuver the gadget which incited the title Our Camera Had Two Heads, the account of which is printed in a camera magazine of national circulation.

The former Carmel photographers, now living in Salinas, filmed the annual Gran Dia Guadalupe with its Aztec dances and native costumes. The choreographer of these Indian dances is on the force of the Salinas Police Department. Many of the dancers are the braceros imported as Mexican Nationals to do field work in the lettuce crops.

In the Mexican parade, filmed by the Chalmers Sisters, were a male dance group who have appeared on television, religious dignitaries of the Catholic Church in colorful robes (among whom was Bishop Clinch of Carmel Mission) and an honor guard of Fort Ord soldiers bearing a replica of the famous picture of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the original of which is in Mexico and is a mecca for pilgrims.

unit and theatre school at the Golden Bough Theatre which will be leased with ultimate plans to purchase the building and facilities. Francis Heisler is chairman of the project. Fritz Wurzmans is membership chairman.

May Day Garden Party

Second function in a series sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Community Theatre project was the May Day Garden Party on Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Stewart on Carmel Point.

The organization is engaged in a campaign to raise funds and enlist membership to form a Peninsula-wide non-profit community theatre comprising a production

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Ability to resist and overcome temptation is available to all mankind today. This is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" which will be heard Sunday at Christian Science services.

The stirring account in Matthew (ch. 4) of how Christ Jesus met and mastered temptation will be featured in the Bible readings.

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this (393:12): "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man."

The Golden Text is from Matthew (26:41): "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation."

Tweed Champe Married

Mrs. Allan Champe returned to Carmel on Sunday after a trip to Lincoln, Nebraska, where she attended the wedding of her older daughter, Tweed, to Robert Edward Evans. The ceremony took place on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Cathedral in Lincoln with the Reverend Robert F. Sheehy officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Champe flew to Nebraska in time to be hostess at a pre-nuptial dinner at the University Club on Friday evening. Mr. Champe was unable at this time to leave Carmel and remained here with the bride's sister and brother, Leslie, a sophomore at Carmel High School, and Rollie, a River School student.

Tweed was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. John L. Champe of Lincoln. She wore a simple white shantung dress with a bell skirt which she had designed herself. The groom's sister, Ruth Evans, was her attendant.

A reception was held in the afternoon following the wedding in the apartment of the bride and groom. This made it possible for their school friends to be present. Many of them had been prevented from attending the wedding because of the traditional Ivy Day "tapping" of Innocents and Mortarboards at the University of Nebraska.

Tweed is an art major in her junior year at the university. She graduated from Carmel High School in 1957 and attended Monterey Peninsula College for a year before transferring to the University of Nebraska where she is affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. She will attend summer session at the university to do laboratory work in anthropology as she did last summer and complete her senior year on a scholarship.

Tweed's interest in anthropology dates back to her early years. She cut her teeth on Indian peace pipes and was exposed to prairie sun as an infant in a cradleboard on an expedition to excavate prehistoric Indian sites along the Platte River in 1939. Her uncle, who gave her in marriage, is Omaha Tonga of the Omaha Tribe and represented the tribe in successful multi-billion dollar claims against the United States government. Eventually Tweed hopes to be hired as an artist on a "dig" but is happy to go on any anthropological expedition even as cook.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Evans of Gering, Nebraska. They were both present at the wedding, also the groom's brother, Daniel.

Robert graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1959 and is now an accountant in the Nebraska state Division of Employment Security. He resumed his work on Monday morning and Tweed returned to classes after a one-day honeymoon.

Montrealer Visits Richardsons

Conrad Nagley was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richardson this week. He is a manufacturer's agent from Montreal, Canada, and hopes to return to Carmel again before too long a time has elapsed.

Senator Farr P-TA Speaker

State Senator Fred Farr will be the speaker at the Carmel Elementary Parent-Teachers Association meeting on Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the cafeteria. He will discuss new State Legislation affecting schools.

Carmel Police Chief Clyde Klauermann and William Wakefield, director of the Carmel recreation program, will outline safety rules and discipline for summer vacation activities of Carmel children.

New officers will be installed. Mr. and Mrs. Speirs Ruskell will be co-presidents of the unit for the coming year. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Diefendorf P-TA Lifer

At the last meeting of the Carmel High School P-TA unit Mrs. Fred Diefendorf was presented with an honorary P-TA life membership and pin in recognition of her outstanding contributions to the welfare of children in this community and notable P-TA activities.

Mrs. Harry Hilbert, in making the presentation on behalf of the high school parents and teachers, stressed Mrs. Diefendorf's work in the Carmel Unified School District and at Logan Hall. Under a state program for handicapped children, Mrs. Diefendorf is in charge of speech therapy for Carmel district pupils. She is known as the Lady with the Basket at Logan Hall, Peninsula School for handicapped children. Mrs. Diefendorf carries her equipment for Logan Hall classes in a basket. Pupils eagerly anticipate the various articles which she produces from the basket to attract the children's attention and interest in her lessons, according to Mrs. Hilbert.

Mrs. Diefendorf twice served as president of the Carmel elementary P-TA unit and this year was a High School unit board member. She has also been president of the Monterey Peninsula P-TA council and a board member of the Twentieth P-TA District. Mrs. Hilbert said in concluding the presentation speech.

Van Loben Sels Home Featured

Before and after remodeling pictures of the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels on Carmelo Street are featured in the current issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine. The accompanying article describes how the van Loben Sels turned an old-fashioned inconvenient kitchen and tiny dining room into a big kitchen-family room. Incorporated into the remodeling is a shell inlaid relief divider, the work of artist Emile Norman of Big Sur.

Bob Weers Have Third Son

Steven Drake Weer, born at the Monterey Hospital on April 24, is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lloyd Weer. His brothers are Lloyd, four, and Robert, two.

Steven's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weer of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Rowland of Cloverdale. Mrs. Rowland left last week end after a visit here and took Lloyd, the oldest of her Carmel grandsons, with her for a short stay in Cloverdale.

Paul MacDonalds Honored

A recent reception at the Aptos Beach Inn honored Mr. and Mrs. Paul MacDonald of Carmel who were married several weeks ago in St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Pacific Grove.

Host and hostess for the event were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Mann of Watsonville. They were assisted in greeting over 200 guests by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. MacDonald of Carmel.

Over 400 orchids arranged with white stock, carnations and magnolia leaves decorated the banquet hall and buffet table placed at one end of the reception room. Guests toasted the newlyweds in champagne and a three-piece combo played for dancing throughout the afternoon.

The bride, the former Jean Mann, is a graduate of Watsonville High School and Mills College and teaches first grade at River School.

Her husband graduated from Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College. He served in the Coast Guard for four years and during this time attended the Coast Guard electronics school, graduating with honors. He has been associated with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Moss Landing plant but will now become a business associate of his father-in-law who is a Watsonville apple grower, packer and shipper.

At the end of school in June Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald will move to Watsonville to make their home.

Tom Work Leaves For Wellesley
Thomas A. Work Jr. left last week for Wellesley College, Massachusetts, to attend the Sophomore-Fathers' week end party with his daughter Donna.

Before he left Mrs. Work gave a dinner party for him at the Cypress Point Club. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Jennison Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve M. Archer Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Arch Butts Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Work, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Work, Mr. and Mrs. James Hatlo, Mr. and Mrs. C. Taylor Pillsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund von Hasseln, Mrs. Rody Holt, Jesse Coe and Charles Fuller.

Mrs. Work will spend the month of May in Honolulu visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Commander and Mrs. Ted R. Fielding. On May 13 she will attend a benefit dance for the Junior Tennis Development program in which Mrs. Fielding takes an active interest. Mrs. Work will be home to meet Donna when she returns from Wellesley on June 1 in time for the latter to be maid of honor at the wedding of her cousin, Diana Perkes, on June 4.

Heads University Campaign

Chester Coulter of Carmel is in charge of the Monterey Peninsula spring gifts campaign of the University of Chicago. He received a bachelor of science degree from the university in 1923 and is now a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of science. Two Carmel persons on his committee are Chester V. Lewis and Dr. Pauline Sperry.

MPCC Fashion Show Tomorrow

Mrs. Lew Kramer of Carmel is chairman of the luncheon fashion show tomorrow that honors wives of golfers participating this week in the eighth annual Monterey Peninsula Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament. Paul Speegle of San Francisco will be commentator.

Models include Mrs. John Storm, Mrs. Barbara Tripp, Mrs. Gloria Gates, Mrs. Nancy F. Brown, Mrs. William H. Forestelle, Mrs. Roderrick Dewar, Mrs. Louise Reifel and Miss Camilla Doe.

A cocktail party for contestants and their wives will be held tonight and a semi-formal dinner dance on Saturday evening, trophies will be presented.

Gary Nielsen In OSC Play

Gary Nielsen of Carmel will play one of the supporting roles when the Oregon State College speech department presents Mister Roberts May 5, 6, and 7.

Gary Nielsen is a senior majoring in engineering.

Humphreys Visit Stewarts

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Humphreys of Idlewild near Palm Springs arrived here yesterday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hal B. Stewart of Hatton Fields.

Mr. Humphreys and Mr. Stewart attended grade school together in Trinidad, Colorado, and in their childhood developed a love of hunting and fishing. Each summer they meet to continue this interest.

The Humphreys are stopping in Carmel on their way for several months of fishing and hunting in the Northwest. They will be joined later in the summer by the Stewarts. Last year the two couples met in Yellowstone Park. The Stewarts left for Seattle three hours before the earthquake. The Humphreys remained in the valley but emerged unharmed from the disaster.

Barkers Of Big Sur Busy

Madelynne Greene, wife of Big Sur poet Eric Barker and recognized as one of America's leading folk dance authorities, presented her International Dance Theatre in its fifteenth annual concert at the Marines Memorial Theatre in San Francisco on Sunday evening. The forty members of the group presented authentic dances of many countries, sang and played musical instruments.

Next Friday evening Eric Barker will read from his poetry at Nepenthe, Big Sur, at 9:30 o'clock.

Douds Back From African Trip

Mr. and Mrs. James Doud have returned from a three-months trip which took them to the West Indies, South America, Central and South Africa, Egypt, Israel, Greece, Italy, Portugal, Tristan da Cunha Island and Zanzibar.

They sailed from New York to Trinidad in the West Indies then continued to South America to visit Brasilia, the new capital of Brazil, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro. Tristan da Cunha in the South Pacific was a stop on the way to Capetown, South Africa. They went to the Belgian Congo, traveled through Kenya, saw both Murchison and Victoria Falls before stopping in Zanzibar on their way to Aden, then up the Nile to Luxor in Egypt. After Israel came Greece where they explored Athens. The Douds revisited Naples and Capri where they were last winter at the same time and finished their foreign travel in Lisbon, Portugal.

While in Africa there were two "incidents" Mr. Doud relates. One was in the Belgian Congo the other in South Africa. The Congo riot was controlled by Belgian paratroops flown to the area, he reports.

Mrs. Potter Has Visitors

Mrs. Andy Chelnov (Jean Potter) of Summit, New Jersey, with her children, Sandra and Michael, leave on Saturday after two weeks here as the guest of Mrs. Chelnov's mother, Mrs. Zenas L. Potter.

Mrs. Chelnov for the past four years has been working for a public relations firm in New York handling the account of the biggest bank in New Jersey, "Everything from the annual report to press releases," she says.

Previous to this she wrote two books on Alaska, The Flying North and Alaska Under Arms. A former member of Fortune magazine staff, her work has appeared in The Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest, Coronet and other magazines. Her husband is at present on a trip abroad in connection with his work for the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Chelnovs traveled west by train as Mrs. Chelnov wanted the children to realize the extent of the United States. They will return, by contrast, on a jet plane.

Susan's Eighteenth Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Jose Fernandez gave a dance on Saturday in honor of their daughter Susan's eighteenth birthday in the Party Room at the Mission Ranch.

Art On The Peninsula

Young Carmel painter Diana Law will have her first one-man show next week at the Hidden Village Gallery, 220 Olivier Street, Monterey. She is showing a group of oil paintings which will be open to the public daily except Mondays from noon till 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon and again in the evenings from 7:00 o'clock till midnight through May 30.

Diana grew up in Carmel and attended Santa Catalina School for Girls before studying abroad in Switzerland. Since returning to Carmel she has continued her art studies at the Carmel Art Institute. Two years ago, then 17 years old, she won second prize for an illustration she submitted in a Seventeen magazine national contest.

Monday evening Diana will meet invited guests at a preview of her exhibit from 5:00-8:00 o'clock.

Donna Seaver of Carmel won first prize with an oil seascape in the Friday art show at the Craft Studios. J. P. Cryer of Monterey placed second with an oil landscape. Special junior award went to Mel Grimes Jr. of Carmel who exhibited a pencil drawing of the Mission. Winners were decided by public voting. The art show is a weekly event at the Craft Studios.

Twelve local sculptors will exhibit their work at the Festival of the Grape in Carmel Valley on May 15. They are David Tolerton and Harry Dick Ross, Big Sur; Liesel Wurzmahn, Patrick Fitzpatrick and Howell Armor, Carmel; Joseph Goethe, Dorothy Miller, Nick Guastella and Gene Flores, Pacific Grove; Wayne Chezem, Seaside; Alexander Weygers and Dje Owens, Carmel Valley.

The festival is a benefit for the Carmel Valley Community Center.

Mrs. William O'Donnell of Monterey won the Velletri portrait, door prize last week at the first meeting of the American Federation of Arts, Monterey Peninsula chapter.

Thirty-three paintings of Nell Walker Warner (Mrs. Emil Shostrom) are on exhibit through May at the Artists Guild of America Inc. Gallery, Monte Verde Street and Ocean Avenue. The show may be seen daily from 11:00-5:00 o'clock.

Nell Walker Warner possesses wide experience. For many years she executed illustrations for the movie industry, also titles and backgrounds for action shots. She is particularly known for her flower studies and has been acclaimed as one of the ablest painters in this field in America. One of her Madonnas with Flowers was selected for a book published in 1947 entitled the World's Great Madonnas. She has received numerous prizes and her work is included in public and private collections in the United States, England, Canada, Sweden, France and India.

She is a member of the Carmel Art Association, Pasadena Society of Artists, Artists of the Southwest, Laguna Beach Art Association, the Glendale Art Association and is a past president of the Women Painters of the West.

Dr. Schumacher

Dr. Frederick Schumacher, member of a pioneer San Jose family, and a retired dentist, died early Wednesday morning in that city. He was born in 1872 in San Jose.

He graduated from the University of California in 1894. He was one of the pioneers of Carmel, having built a summer home on Dolores Street in 1904. Dr. Schumacher's daughter Gladys, Mrs. Henri Wiethase, and son, Harold Frederick, maintain homes in Carmel. He also was the grandfather of three grandsons and the great-grandfather of seven. He was past exalted ruler of the BPOE lodge in San Jose and for years was chaplain of that order.

Mussel Quarantine Effective Now To Last Of October

The yearly quarantine of mussels for human consumption was declared this week as a protection to Californians from the highly toxic poison present in the shellfish during the summer and early autumn, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director.

The quarantine, established along the entire California coastal shore will be in effect to October 31. Mussels may be used for bait during the quarantine period, but must be broken open and placed in containers plainly marked in big print, "For fish bait only. Unfit for human consumption."

The director also warned Californians to be cautious in the preparation of clams for summer meals during this period. He advised that clams should be cleaned and washed thoroughly before cooking and that all dark parts (where poison concentrates during the quarantine period) should be discarded. Only the white meat should be eaten. In addition, clams should be taken from areas free from sewage contamination.

The poison, found in plankton which serves as food for mussels and clams, is an alkaloid such as strychnine and can prove fatal to persons eating the toxic shellfish. California had five cases of mussel poisoning but no deaths, in 1954, the first reported cases in the state since 1948.

Hal Ulrici Director For White Oaks Summer Theatre

Hal Ulrici was appointed Managing Director of the Carmel Valley's White Oaks Summer Theatre, for the 1960 Summer season, according to Miss Sally Church, president of the non-profit summer stock company.

Ulrici, chairman of the Hartnell College Fine Arts Department, is a veteran of over 100 major theatrical productions. Ulrici was one of 14 candidates interviewed for the summer stock company position. A core of eight actors from the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas will supply the major acting tasks for the stock productions which are scheduled to get underway July 1.

Mr. Ulrici pointed out that try-outs for local talent would be scheduled as quickly as possible. "We intend to draw upon the talent available in Monterey County."

Plays scheduled for 1960 include two musicals and two comedies. The season will open July 1, with Annie Get Your Gun, followed by The Tender Trap, My Three Angels and The Bells Are Ringing.

Pine Needles...Criley Family Reunion

Eleven members of the Criley family gathered last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Russell Williams of Carmel Highlands. Her brother, Theodore Criley, and Mrs. Criley of Claremont came to Carmel to say farewell to Mrs. Williams and both the Criley sons, Don and Michael, and their families before leaving for a several-months' trip to Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey.

Dr. Michael Criley, his wife and son, John Michael, came from Baltimore, Maryland, to take part in Sunday's reunion. Dr. Criley has a fellowship in cardiology at Johns Hopkins University.

Don Criley, his wife Lydia, and their three children were also part of the group. Don has moved to Carmel from Los Angeles and is associated with Technical Operations Inc. on the Peninsula.

Dennis Joins Reserve Unit

Private Dennis K. Taplin is now assigned to headquarters of the 6211th Army Reserve Garrison Unit at Fort Ord. He will continue to meet his military obligations by attending weekly meetings in the East Garrison and serve with the Quartermaster Section. Dennis received training in this field while on active duty at Fort Lee, Virginia.

He is a graduate of Carmel High School, employed with Carmel Taxi Association and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Verish.

Attend ROA Convention

Delegates from the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Reserve Officer's Association to the thirty-second annual convention department of the California ROA in San Rafael last week end included Captain Edward Flaherty (USNR) of Carmel Valley and Lieutenant Colonel Garry Anloff Jr., (USA-Ret.) of Carmel.

Representing the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the Reserve Officer's Association Ladies' Club at the meetings was Mrs. Anloff, president-elect of the Monterey ROAL.

Stated Meeting Speaker

George R. Dietterle, M. Sc. Stanford University, will speak on Education, the Great Challenge of the 60s, at the stated meeting tomorrow evening of Carmel Lodge No. 680 A.&F.M., at 8:00 o'clock in the Carmel Masonic Temple. Sojourners and members are invited to attend. A dinner at 6:30 o'clock precedes the meeting.

Browning Book And Art Meeting

The Book and Art Society will commemorate the anniversary of the birth of Robert Browning on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the new room at Carmel Foundation Town House.

The Revelation, an original dialogue, will be read by Dr. and Mrs. Fred L. Farley. It is an enactment of the words spoken by Elizabeth and Robert Browning in Italy in 1847 when the former first showed Browning her poems later called Sonnets from the Portuguese.

Party For Admiral De Kay

Mrs. Mabelle De Kay entertained on Tuesday with a cocktail party at Del Monte Lodge for her son, Rear Admiral C. G. De Kay, and Mrs. De Kay who will return to San Francisco after a week's visit here.

Young Carmel

The most important social event of the year at Carmel High School, the Junior-Senior Prom, will be held on Saturday evening. Around the World in 80 Days is the theme for the formal dancing party.

The Junior Class sent out invitations to the affair to the Senior Class and Faculty several weeks ago. Since then, under the direction of overall Prom co-chairmen Mary Martin and Brook Scherman, plans have been made to decorate the gymnasium as four stopping places on a world tour, Japan, Hawaii, France and Old San Francisco.

Pam Petersen and Layton Theis, decorations chairmen, with the help of junior class members and faculty class sponsors Alan Aldwell and Peter Lyon, have created a bridge which will span a stream in a Japanese garden and a four-foot waterfall beside a native Hawaiian hut in which refreshments will be served. A 12 foot Eiffel tower with a French cafe serving refreshments at its base will represent France. A cable car, constructed by the juniors, will be the feature of the Old San Francisco Prom area.

Bids picturing a Jules Verne era balloon are the work of Mardi Lloyd and Diane Whelan, publicity and bids chairmen. Jeannie Roeder heads the refreshment committee.

Al Mendoza and his orchestra will play for dancing from 9:00 o'clock until midnight. During the evening Junior Class President Bruce Bennett will present the Prom Queen and her two attendants who have been selected by secret junior class vote from seniors Gay Fremier, Nikki Wilson, Ellen McKelvey, Veronica Taylor, Phyllis Clayton and Diane Miller. Following Bruce's announcement the Prom Queen will be crowned.

The Junior-Senior Prom is the junior class present to the seniors.

Sunset School's seventh and eighth grade students are sending 20 paintings to Japan, in exchange for the 20 paintings they have received from a sixth grade in Oita City, Kyushu, Japan.

Captain and Mrs. John Arnn of Carmel were instrumental in starting what may grow into an annual exchange. Other countries such as France, Italy and Russia have been asked to participate in this small gesture toward world understanding.

Three Carmel High School students have received scholarships for free admittance to all meetings of the World Affairs Conference at Asilomar this week end and a year's membership in the World Affairs Council. They are Jennie Hill, Linda Stager and Ralph Cruikshank.

These students were selected by a committee consisting of Mrs. Hans von Richter and Harry Steinberger on the basis of interest in world affairs, leadership in school activities and scholarship.

The University of California's examination in Subject A—English—will be given at Monterey Peninsula College Saturday morning, May 14, from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock.

High School seniors and others taking the examination must bring pen and ink and come on time. No one will be admitted after 9:30, according to the announcement received from the University of California.

A certificate of identification from the student's high school principal is required for admission to the examination, which will be given in L-10.

plished artists as Wade Parks, pianist, who will be heard in Richard Strauss' Burleske; Raymond Fabrizio, flutist, and Margaret Fabrizio, harpsichordist, in Bach's Suite No. 2 in G Minor for Flute and Strings; and the Fort Ord Soldier's Chorus, which will join the orchestra for the finale of the program, Randall Thompson's Testament of Freedom.

The last work will also provide the concert debut of a distinguished Carmel non-musician: attorney Eugene Harrah.

Harrah, vice-president of the symphony board, was selected by Conductor Murray as narrator for the Testament of Freedom, text of which is based on writings of Thomas Jefferson. Judge Stanley Lawson will handle the narration at Monday night's concert in Salinas.

The concert program will also include Maurice Ravel's Pavan for a Dead Princess and Charles Ives' The Unanswered Question.

H. M. M. Nicholas of Carmel will serve as concertmaster.

other new councilmen time to study the proposals. He said there was no pressing need for haste since there had been no application for use of the Forest Theater this summer (such applications are usually before the council in March) and the Arts Commission's proposed Arts Festival in October "is not certain."

Patricia Hall, in the audience, said the reason nobody has applied for use of the Forest Theater for summer productions is the condition of the wiring. "Last year they had to wear asbestos gloves to throw the lighting switches." Council postponed action.

Another recommendation of the arts commission, that the city give the Monterey County Symphony Association financial support was postponed until the budget session in June. Norberg's motion that the city make a $25.00 "token contribution to show appreciation" failed to get a second. "I think if we decide to contribute we should give them what the art commission proposed, $200," said Chitwood.

Chitwood voted no to the forest commission's recommendation of tree plantings at several locations proposed by Francis Whitaker "while he was still Citizen Whitaker and before he became Councilman Whitaker." Chitwood objected to a tree planting in the "middle of the street" at Twelfth and Carmelo, though the proposal was for replacing a tree that has been removed. Four yesses supported Whitaker and the forest commission.

Council approved purchase of two new Chevrolet police patrol cars for $2077 over turn-in allowance on the city's 18-months-old police cars.

The planning commission's interim ordinance motel land coverage has failed to stop motel development as intended, Norberg said, adding that he had three proposals for motel control. Whitaker headstate park, but since the Squaw Valley raid on beaches and parks funds, the acquisition schedule has been cut back so drastically that we are likely to lose half of what is already in the county master plan.

At last a Carmelite has taken firm hold of his courage and attended a baseball game in Candlestick Stadium. Edel Macahalig and his sons drove to the city for the Monday night game. He reports it took him an hour to get into the stadium parking lot and an hour to get out but he hastens to add that he might not have been so long getting out if he hadn't lost his car, along with several thousand other fans.

Because of the hour lost in the bumper to bumper queue, Edel says he arrived in the stadium just as the first ball was pitched. Under the circumstances, he didn't take time to notice the number of the line on which his car was parked.

But it was a wonderful game and well worth the entrance and exit time, says Edel. The night was clear and calm, and he didn't have to use the extra blanket he'd brought along.

On the strength of this encouraging report four more Carmelites are going to venture into the Candlestick Maw Sunday afternoon. We'll let you know how the expedition fares, providing we get out of there before next issue.

ed off this serious threat to the 11:00 o'clock adjournment objective by pointing out that any zoning ordinance amendment should have to make a round from council to planning commission to council and take up at least two months. The planning commission's proposed new zoning ordinance will be before the council shortly, and after public hearings, the council could consider changes in it to provide motel controls.

Chitwood, mischievously, said he was curious about Norberg's three proposals, but the new council was not willing to give him an opening for his customary fight with Norberg. Norberg was invited to remove his three proposals from the agenda until they could be effectively considered, and Norberg did so. His proposal that the citizens' annexation committee be reactivated was likewise sat on. "Annexation proposals must come from without. The quickest way to kill annexation is for the city to set up an annexation committee," said Chitwood, speaking from experience, and the rest of the council agreed.

support the center this year in view of a decreased allotment from the Community Chest, the Youth Center should consider a different financial plan in the future.

Housing and Home Financing Agency advance loans amounting to $5,422 for preliminary plans for an elementary school and $30,728 for a high school, both at the mouth of the Valley, have been awarded Carmel district. This money will be repaid when construction starts after a bond issue is passed. Trustees will proceed with consultations with Ernest Kump, Palo Alto, and Elston and Cranston, Carmel, architectural firms working as one unit on high school preliminary plans.

New teachers hired, last night were Bob Douglas, Carmel High School and San Jose State College graduate, to teach sixth grade at River School; Joanne Overdorf, combined third and fourth grades at Carmelo; Jacqueline Huribert, similar combined grade at Woods; Antoinette Angle, life sciences, and Bernice Bennett, Spanish, at the High School.

A joint meeting of trustees and bond election committee was set for Tuesday night, 7:30 o'clock, Carmel High School music building. Loyal Wiekhorst has accepted the chairmanship of the bond committee. Other members are Trustee George Yates, Malcolm Millard, Maynard Petersen, Mrs. Lewis Gardner, Mark Raggatt, Mrs. Roderick Wilson, and two members from Carmel Valley to be requested to serve by Trustee Dr. Grant Fletcher.

Furniture for four classrooms, River, and additions to Carmelo, total cost $4,925, were approved. The one bid submitted for a central district office annex was rejected and new bids will be asked.

spring, in which Senator Farr participated, will be shown.

The program will be given in Sunset School Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock on May 12. It will be open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

On April 14 there was a public hearing in Kentfield, Marin County, on the bill to establish this National Seashore. Many prominent conservationists attended, including Conrad L. Wirth, Director of the National Park Service. Mr. Wirth stated that he had a personal interest in the bill, since he made a report on the same area in 1935, before he became Director of the Service, recommending the establishment of a 53,000 acre National Seashore Recreation Area at that time.

The bill is mainly opposed by certain real estate interests which already have started one subdivision on the ocean shore in about the center of the proposed area. There are also many dairy ranches on the Peninsula and although the National Park Service plans to lease these ranches back to their owners during their lifetime, there is a certain amount of opposition from some of these owners.

A big lumber operation is now going on in the very heart of the area where the virgin Douglas firs are being slashed to pieces with little regard to good conservation practices. The State Division of Forestry has issued a temporary restraining order against the lumber company.

There are two bills now before Congress to establish this National Seashore. Senator Engle has introduced S. 2428 and Rep. Clem Miller's bill is H. R. 8358. The bills are now waiting a report from the Department of the Interior before being considered by any Congressional committee.
